

THE BEAUTY OF THE WORLD

tuning: cgcgcc

If you look to the daily news
So that you can stay attuned to what matters
You might find that headlines
Don't describe the beauty of the world

So if you hang your head straight out of bed
Because you read the doom and gloom and got discouraged
Ignore your computer screen
And look to see the beauty of the world

Beauty like the sun coming down
Beauty like a seed in the ground
Rising and reaching out, reaching for the sky
Beauty like the life in the land
Moving in your own two hands
Beauty like the wondrous chance to be alive

If you're down to your final dime and can't decide
What else to buy to be happy
You don't need a credit card to give your heart
The beauty of the world

And if you walk the street with tired feet
Bending underneath the grief that you carry
Lay the weight you brought along down upon
The beauty of the world

Beauty like the wind in the trees
Beauty like children's dreams
Beauty like the sound of steeple bells when they ring
Beauty like ties that bind us
Beauty like acts of kindness
Beauty like the light inside of everything

If your whole shtick is tragic hip
But you are sick of being such a big cynic
You can try out a joyful shout and sing about
The beauty of the world

And if you don't like to have to wait
And think your chances aren't great to get to Heaven
Maybe one way to save your soul is get to know
The beauty of the world
Get to know the beauty of the world
Get to know the beauty of the world
