

HAWK AND WHALE

tuning: dadgad

Wind is coming fierce and strong
But does not trouble hawk at all
It lifts her up and holds her high
Motionless against the sky

She hovers there, but not for long
Shifts her wings and she is gone
Sailing out across the sun
As if she and wind are one

Sister Hawk, please
Can you teach me
Teach me how to make that fearsome wind
My friend

In the deep the dark prevails
But does not seem to bother whale
He holds his breath and plunges down
Where the sun cannot be found

And in the dark he sounds his call
And listens how the echoes fall
And in the dark he finds his prey
Strength to live another day

Brother Whale, please
Can you teach me
Teach me how to make the darkest depth
My friend

Noble creatures of the earth
Forces of the universe
Can you teach my frightened soul
How to make this world my home?

Hawk and Whale, please
When the wind and darkness greet me
Can you teach me how to answer yes
My friend
